Third-party links

This website may include links to third-party websites, plug-ins and applications. Clicking on those links or enabling those connections may allow third parties to collect or share data about you. We do not control these third-party websites and are not responsible for their privacy statements. When you leave this website, we encourage you to read the privacy notice of every website you visit.

1. What is personal data?

Personal data is any information that tells us something about you. This could include information such as name, contact details, date of birth and passport details. It does not include data where the identity has been removed (anonymous data).

2. The personal data we collect about you

We may collect, use, store and transfer different kinds of personal data about you when you make contact with us through this website, social media, community funding applications, applying for a vacancy, work experience or any other means of contacting us. We have grouped together the different types of personal data as follows:

- Identity Data includes first name, maiden name, last name, username or similar identifier, marital status, title, date of birth and photographs.
- Contact Data includes email address and telephone numbers.
- Financial Data includes bank account details.
- Transaction Data includes details about payments to and from you.
- Technical Data includes internet protocol (IP) address, your login data, browser type and version, time zone setting and location, browser plug-in types and versions, operating system and platform and other technology on the devices you use to access this website. We may automatically process some technical data such as your Internet Protocol (IP) address to identify what companies have interacted with the website. This processing only identifies a company name and will not be used to identify an individual.
- Profile Data includes your username and password, your interests, preferences, feedback and survey responses.
- Usage Data includes information about how you use this website.
- Marketing and Communications Data includes your preferences in receiving marketing from us and our third parties and your communication preferences.
- Wireless Data includes for example device names, MAC addresses (i.e. unique device identifiers) and the date and time that the user connects to Derwent London's wireless networks. Information relating to the websites visited is not usually collected, unless the website is deemed to be malicious, or inappropriate by our security appliances used by Derwent London.

We also collect, use and share Aggregated Data such as statistical or demographic data for any purpose. Aggregated Data may be derived from your personal data but is not considered personal data in law as this data does not directly or indirectly reveal your identity. For example, we may aggregate your Usage Data to calculate the percentage of users accessing a specific website feature. However, if we combine or connect Aggregated Data with your personal data so that it can directly or indirectly identify you, we treat the combined data as personal data which will be used in accordance with this notice.

Special categories of personal data

Some information is classified as "special" personal data under data protection legislation. This includes details about your race or ethnicity, religious or philosophical beliefs, sex life, sexual orientation, political opinions, trade union membership, information about your health and genetic and biometric data.

In very limited circumstances, we may collect special personal data about you. We will however, only collect or disclose this special personal data where it is necessary to protect your vital interests (examples could include (i) if you are unwell at our premises, we may need to pass your personal data to medical professionals in order to seek assistance (ii) if you are involved in an accident or incident at our premises, we may need to gather personal data relating to injuries received and medical treatment given, to comply with our health and safety obligations).

We do not collect any information about criminal convictions and offences.

If you include any special personal data when you contact us on the telephone, by email, through this website or any other means of communication, it is your responsibility to make sure you are happy for us to use that personal data in accordance with this notice. You should be aware that this personal data is more sensitive and is more heavily protected by data protection legislation, so you should avoid including this kind of data if possible.

If you fail to provide personal data

Where we need to collect personal data by law, or under the terms of a contract we have with you and you fail to provide that data when requested, we may not be able to perform the contract we have or are trying to enter into with you. In this case, we may have to cancel the contract you have with us but we will notify you if this is the case at the time.

3. How we collect your personal data

We use different methods to collect data from and about you including through:

- Direct interactions - You may give us your Identity, Contact, Financial and Transaction Data by filling in forms or by corresponding with us by post, phone, email or otherwise. This includes personal data you provide when you:
 - become an occupier of Derwent London (i.e. a tenant of one of our properties);
 - make contact with us through email, telephone, post or through social media regarding a query, feedback or complaint;
 - visit this website;
 - apply for community funding through our "Community Fund" page on www.derwentlondon.com/community-fund;
 - visit one of our properties;
 - attend events organised by us or on our behalf;
 - subscribe to any of our e-newsletters or other publications; or
 - request marketing to be sent to you.

- Automated technologies or interactions - As you interact with this website, we may automatically collect Usage Data about how you use this website and Technical Data about your equipment, browsing actions and patterns. We collect this personal data by using cookies, server logs and other similar technologies. Please see our cookies policy, a link to which can be accessed in Section 11 below.
- Third parties or publicly available sources - We may receive personal data about you from various third parties and public sources as set out below:
- Technical Data from analytics providers such as Google based outside the EU;
 - Identity, Contact and Marketing and Communications Data from marketing platforms such as Mail Chimp based outside the EU;
 - Identity, Contact, Profile and Marketing and Communications Data from survey providers such as Survey Monkey based outside the EU;
 - Identity, Contact and Profile Data from social media platforms such as Facebook, LinkedIn, Instagram, Vimeo and Twitter based outside the EU;
 - Identity, Contact, Profile, Financial and Transaction Data from share registration service providers such as Equiniti based outside of the EU;
 - Identity and Contact Data from publicly available sources such as Companies House and the Electoral Register based inside the EU.
 - Use of our Access Control systems and procedures or customer service systems such as helpdesks, websites or other communication tools.
 - We use Facebook & Google Adwords Remarketing to advertise Derwent London across the Internet, in particular on the Facebook Audience Network & Google Display Network.
 - Facebook & AdWords remarketing will display ads to you based on what parts of the Derwent London building websites you have viewed by placing a cookie on your web browser.
 - This cookie does not in any way identify you or give access to your computer or mobile device.
 - The cookie is used to indicate to other websites that 'This person visited a particular page, so show them ads relating to that page.'
 - Facebook & Google AdWords Remarketing allows us to tailor our marketing to better suit your needs and only display ads that are relevant to you.
 - If you do not wish to see ads from Derwent London you can opt-out in several ways:
 1. Opt out via our Cookies notice on each Derwent London building website.
 2. Opt out of Google's use of cookies by visiting Google's Ads Settings.
 3. Visit www.ico.org.uk to discover ways to opt out of all third-party vendor's use of cookies.

4. How we use your personal data

Under data protection legislation we are only permitted to use your personal data if we have a legal basis for doing so as set out in the data protection legislation.

We will only use your personal data when the law allows us to. Most commonly, we will use your personal data in the following circumstances:

- Where we need information to perform a contract we are about to enter into or have entered into with you;
- Where we need to comply with a legal or regulatory obligation; or
- Where it is necessary for our legitimate interests (or those of a third party) and your interests and fundamental rights do not override those interests.
- How do we use your IP address? We use your IP address to track traffic flows and to make our websites easier for you to use and to better understand how our websites are used.

Generally we do not rely on consent as a legal basis for processing your personal data other than in relation to sending you marketing communications via email. You have the right to withdraw consent to marketing at any time by contacting us.

Please refer to the Section below regarding the purposes for which we will use your personal data to find out more about the types of legal basis that we will rely on to process your personal data.

Purposes for which we will use your personal data

We have set out below, in a table format, a description of all the ways we plan to use your personal data, and which of the legal bases we rely on to do so. We have also identified what our legitimate interests are where appropriate.

Note that we may process your personal data for more than one legal basis depending on the specific purpose for which we are using your data. Change of purpose

We will only use your personal data for the purposes for which we collected it, unless we reasonably consider that we need to use it for another reason and that reason is compatible with the original purpose. If you wish to obtain an explanation as to how the processing for the new purpose is compatible with the original purpose, please contact us using the contact details above.

If we need to use your personal data for an unrelated purpose, we will notify you and we will explain the legal basis which allows us to do so.

Please note that we may process your personal data without your knowledge or consent, in compliance with the above rules, where this is required or permitted by law.

5. MARKETING

Direct marketing

We strive to provide you with choices regarding certain personal data uses, particularly around marketing. We will provide you with a clear choice to opt into receiving any of our newsletters or other marketing communications when you first make contact with us.

We may use your Identity, Contact, Technical, Usage and Profile Data to form a view on what we think you may want or need, or what may be of interest to you. This is how we decide which services and offers may be relevant for you (we call this marketing).

You will receive marketing communications from us if you have requested information from us or if you provided us with your details when contacting us or applying for community funding and, in each case, you have not opted out of receiving that marketing.

Third-party marketing

We do not share your personal data with any company outside of Derwent London for marketing purposes.

Opting out

You can ask us to stop sending you our newsletter, marketing messages or other marketing materials at any time by unsubscribing from the mailing list, using the link provided in the newsletter email, or by using the contact details above.

6. Disclosure of personal data

We sometimes need to share your data with third parties for the purposes as set out in the table in Section 4.

Where we share your personal data with third parties we ensure that we have appropriate measures in place to safeguard your personal data and to ensure that it is solely used for legitimate purposes in line with this notice. We will always make sure that those third parties protect your personal data in the same way that we do.

We need to share your personal data with third parties who provide services to us to enable them to provide their services such as IT, payment and system administration services. We may also need to share your personal data with our professional advisers including lawyers, bankers, auditors and insurers based who provide consultancy, banking, legal, insurance and accounting services.

Our websites are managed by various developers. As part of the service provided by these developers, they will help to maintain the security and the performance of our websites by: (i) encrypting data in transit and protecting user connections; (ii) using third party scanning services to scan against known web attacks; (iii) investigating site errors; and (iv) providing secure hosting services.

When applying through the community fund programme, we will share your personal data with the local authority when assessing your application in order to make a decision.

We will not usually disclose your personal data other than as set out above. However, there may be circumstances where we need to share personal data other than as anticipated above. These include:

- Where we are legally required to disclose the information, for example because a court orders us to do so;
- Where the disclosure of the personal data is required for the purposes of the prevention and detection of crime. This includes sharing the personal data with tax authorities and law enforcement agencies;
- Where we need to disclose the personal data for the purpose of or in connection with any investigation of an alleged crime, legal proceedings, or for the purpose of obtaining legal advice, or the disclosure is otherwise necessary for the purposes of establishing, exercising or defending legal rights; and
- To any actual or prospective purchaser of our business assets or organisation.

As stated above in Section 2 (Special categories of personal data), we may in very limited circumstances collect special personal data about you but we will only disclose this special personal data where it is necessary to protect your vital interests (examples could include (i) if you are unwell at our premises, we may need to pass your personal data to medical professionals in order to seek assistance (ii) if you are involved in an accident or incident at our premises, we may need to gather personal data relating to injuries received and medical treatment given, to comply with our health and safety obligations).

7. Transfers outside the EEA

When personal data is transferred to countries outside of the UK and the European Economic Area (EEA) those countries may not offer an equivalent level of protection for personal data to the laws in the UK. Where this is the case we will ensure that appropriate safeguards are put in place to protect your personal data.

Many of our external third parties are based outside the EEA so their processing of your personal data will involve a transfer of data outside the EEA.

Whenever we transfer your personal data out of the EEA, we ensure a similar degree of protection is afforded to it by ensuring at least one of the following safeguards is implemented:

- We will only transfer your personal data to countries that have been deemed to provide an adequate level of protection for personal data by the European Commission;
- Where we use certain service providers, we may use specific contracts approved by the European Commission which give personal data the same protection it has in Europe; or
- Where we use providers based in the US, we may transfer data to them if they are part of the Privacy Shield which requires them to provide similar protection to personal data shared between the Europe and the US.
- Please contact us using the contact details above if you want further information on the specific mechanism used by us when transferring your personal data out of the EEA.

8. Keeping personal data secure

We know that you provide your personal data in good faith and expect it to be looked after. We take the security of your personal data seriously and we have put in place appropriate security measures to prevent your personal data from being accidentally lost, used or accessed in an unauthorised way, altered or disclosed. In addition, we limit access to your personal data to those employees, agents, contractors and other third parties who have a business need to know. They will only process your personal data on our instructions and they are subject to a duty of confidentiality.

We have put in place procedures to deal with any suspected personal data breach and will notify you and any applicable regulator of a breach where we are legally required to do so.

We have also taken steps internally in order to ensure that our systems adequately protect your personal data. This includes for example:

- HTTPS / SSL encryption of data between the user's browser and server;
- use of updated and patched software;
- storing highly confidential information in encrypted form;
- using firewalled IT systems to prohibit unauthorised access
- restricted access controls on files and servers containing personal data;
- physical security including locked and access-controlled rooms; and
- operation of CCTV at our properties.

9. Data retention

We will only retain your personal data for as long as necessary to fulfil the purposes we collected it for, including for the purposes of satisfying any legal, accounting, or reporting requirements.

To determine the appropriate retention period for personal data, we consider the amount, nature, and sensitivity of the personal data, the potential risk of harm from unauthorised use or disclosure of your personal data, the purposes for which we process your personal data and whether we can achieve those purposes through other means, and the applicable legal requirements.

Details of retention periods for different aspects of your personal data are available in our retention policy. You can request details of these retention periods by contacting our Company Secretary using the contact details above.

10. Your rights

You have rights in respect of your personal data and this Section explains a bit more about those rights that are applicable to what we do with your personal data and when you can exercise them. If you would like more information about any of your rights, please contact us using the contact details above.

You have a number of rights in relation to your personal data, these include the right to:

- Be informed about how we use your personal data;
- Obtain access to your personal data that we hold;
- Request that your personal data is corrected if you believe it is incorrect, incomplete or inaccurate;
- Request that we erase your personal data in the following circumstances:
 - If we are continuing to process personal data beyond the period when it is necessary to do so for the purpose for which it was originally collected;
 - If we are relying on consent as the legal basis for processing and you withdraw consent;
 - If we are relying on legitimate interest as the legal basis for processing and you object to this processing and there is no overriding compelling ground which enables us to continue with the processing;
 - If the personal data has been processed unlawfully (i.e. in breach of the requirements of the data protection legislation); or
 - If it is necessary to delete the personal data to comply with a legal obligation,
- Ask us to restrict our data processing activities where you consider that:
 - Personal data is inaccurate;
 - Our processing of your personal data is unlawful;
 - Where we no longer need the personal data but you require us to keep it to enable you to establish, exercise or defend a legal claim;
 - Where you have raised an objection to our use of your personal data,
- Request a copy of certain personal data that you have provided to us in a commonly used electronic format. This right relates to personal data that you have provided to us that we need in order to perform our agreement with you and personal data where we are relying on consent to process your personal data;
- Object to our processing of your personal data where we are relying on legitimate interests or exercise of a public interest task to make the processing lawful. If you raise an objection we will carry out an assessment to determine whether we have an overriding legitimate ground which entitles us to continue to process your personal data; or
- Withdraw consent where we are relying on consent to process your personal data. You can withdraw consent to our processing the personal data at any time;
- Not be subject to automated decisions which produce legal effects or which could have a similarly significant effect on you.

If you would like to exercise any of your rights or find out more information, please contact us using the contact details above.

No fee usually required

You will not have to pay a fee to access your personal data (or to exercise any of the other rights). However, we may charge a reasonable fee if your request is clearly unfounded, repetitive or excessive. Alternatively, we may refuse to comply with your request in these circumstances.

What we may need from you

We may need to request specific information from you to help us confirm your identity and ensure your right to access your personal data (or to exercise any of your other rights). This is a security measure to ensure that personal data is not disclosed to any person who has no right to receive it. We may also contact you to ask you for further information in relation to your request to speed up our response.

Time limit to respond

We try to respond to all legitimate requests within one month. Occasionally it may take us longer than a month if your request is particularly complex or you have made a number of requests. In this case, we will notify you and keep you updated.

11. Cookies

You can set your browser to refuse all or some browser cookies, or to alert you when websites set or access cookies. If you disable or refuse cookies, please note that some parts of this website may become inaccessible or not function properly.

For more information about what cookies are and the cookies we use, please see <https://www.derwentlondon.com/texts/cookie-policy>].

12. Complaints

You have the right to make a complaint at any time to the Information Commissioner's Office. We would, however, appreciate the chance to deal with your concerns before you approach the Information Commissioner's Officer so please contact us in the first instance using the contact details above.

You are important to us, and so is protecting your personal data. We have high standards when it comes to collecting and using personal data. For this reason, we take any complaints we receive from you about our use of your personal data very seriously and request that you bring any issues to our attention.

We are registered with the Information Commissioner's Officer, the UK supervisory authority for data protection issues (www.ico.org.uk), with registration number Z1272776.

13. Updating This Notice

We keep our notice under regular review in order to ensure that it properly reflects our use of personal data. This notice was last updated on 27 July 2023 and historic versions can be obtained by contacting us.

It is important that the personal data we hold about you is accurate and current. Please keep us informed if your personal data changes during your relationship with us.
